1. Introduction

Children and young people are living their lives seamlessly both on and offline. Although this can present many positive opportunities and outlets for children and young people, there are challenges and risks. The Oldershaw School is committed to supporting parents/carers in developing the health and wellbeing of every pupil. The implementation of Relationship and Sex Education within the school will allow us to further educate our young people on how to be safe and healthy in all aspects of their academic, personal and social lives in a positive way, whilst embedding the school's core values of pride, kindness and resilience.

2. Aims

The aims of relationships and sex education (RSE) at our school are to:

- Provide a framework in which sensitive discussions can take place
- Provide a framework that is fully inclusive to the needs and abilities of all pupils
- Prepare pupils for puberty, and give them an understanding of sexual development and the importance of health and hygiene
- Help pupils develop feelings of self-respect, confidence and empathy
- Create a positive culture around issues of sexuality and relationships
- To explore healthy and unhealthy relationships of all kinds, not just intimate relationships, and the benefit of healthy, positive relationships to their mental wellbeing
- To educate pupils on the law surrounding Relationships and Sex Education
- Teach pupils the correct vocabulary to describe themselves and their bodies
- Help pupils understand the risks of being online and how to stay safe

- Align with our core values of Pride, Kindness & Resilience

3. Statutory requirements

As a secondary school, we must provide RSE to all pupils as per section 34 of the Children and Social work act 2017. and the new statutory Relationships and Sex Education requirements (2020).

In teaching RSE, we are required by our funding agreements to have regard to guidance issued by the secretary of state as outlined in section 403 of the Education Act 1996.

The policy has been developed, and should be read in conjunction with:

- Statutory guidance on RSE and health education
- Keeping Children Safe in Education
- Respectful School Communities: Self Review and Signposting Tool \(a tool to support a whole school approach that promotes respect and discipline\)
- Behaviour and Discipline in Schools \(advice for schools, including advice for appropriate behaviour between pupils\)
- Equality Act 2010 and schools
- SEND code of practice: 0 to 25 years \(statutory guidance\)
- Alternative Provision \(statutory guidance\)
- Mental Health and Behaviour in Schools \(advice for schools\)
- Preventing and Tackling Bullying \(advice for schools, including advice on cyberbullying\)
- Sexual violence and sexual harassment between children in schools \(advice for schools\)
- The Equality and Human Rights Commission Advice and Guidance \(provides advice on avoiding discrimination in a variety of educational contexts\)
- Promoting Fundamental British Values as part of SMSC in schools \(guidance for maintained schools on promoting basic important British values as part of pupils' spiritual, moral, social and cultural \(SMSC\)\)
- National Citizen Service guidance for schools

As well as the above guidance, this policy should be read alongside the school's policies for:

- Anti-Bullying
- Child Protection and Safeguarding
- Equality Information and Objectives

All of the school's policies are available here.

At The Oldershaw School we teach RSE as set within this policy.

4. Policy development

This policy has been developed in consultation with staff, pupils and parents. The consultation and policy development process involved the following steps:

1. Review – a member of staff or working group pulled together all relevant information including relevant national and local guidance
2. Staff consultation – all Oldershaw school staff were given the opportunity to look at the policy and make recommendations

3. Parent/stakeholder consultation – parents and any interested parties were invited to attend a meeting about the policy
4. Pupil consultation – we investigated what exactly pupils want from their RSE
5. Ratification – once amendments were made, the policy was shared with trustees and ratified

5. What is effective Relationships and Sex Education?

RSE is not about the promotion of sexual activity. It is lifelong learning about different types of relationships, sexual health, sexuality, healthy lifestyles, diversity and personal identity. RSE provides children and young people with the opportunity to receive information whilst exploring issues and values. RSE fosters the emotional, social and cultural development of pupils and develops resilience and character, all of which are fundamental to pupils being happy, successful members of society.

RSE teaches pupils about the importance of stable and loving relationships, in all capacities, and how to nurture and develop these. It supports pupils in being able to identify acceptable and unacceptable behaviour in relationships, when relationships are unhealthy and how these situations can be managed.

RSE is also designed to support the pupils growing up in an increasingly digital world and the significant challenges this presents, particularly for young people. RSE aims to provide pupils with the tools they need to make the right decisions and to keep themselves safe and happy.

In an age appropriate way and with a phased approach, RSE educates pupils on safer sex and sexual health. Knowledge in these areas is vital to ensuring pupils are prepared to make safe, informed and healthy choices as they progress through adult life. This is delivered in factual way, providing a balanced and objective view, allowing scope for pupils to discuss misconceptions and misinformation in a safe environment.

6. Delivery of RSE

RSE is taught within the personal, social, health and economic education curriculum (PSHE). However, a number of related themes are also taught in a range of different curriculum areas. For example, biological factors of RSE will be delivered through the Science curriculum, some coverage of moral issues as well as other factors may be delivered through Religious Education (RE), online and media safety is addressed in the ICT/Computing curriculum and elements of healthy lifestyles is explored through Physical Education (PE). Some themes may also be covered in assemblies and/or presentations delivered by external facilitators. Pupils also receive stand-alone sex education sessions delivered by a trained health professional.

RSE focuses on giving young people the information they need to help them develop healthy, nurturing relationships of all kinds including:

- Families
- Respectful relationships, including friendships
- Online and media
- Being safe
- Intimate and sexual relationships, including sexual health
- The Law

These areas of learning are taught within the context of family life taking care to ensure that there is no stigmatisation of children based on their home circumstances (families can include single parent families, LGBT parents, families headed by grandparents, adoptive parents, foster parents/carers amongst other structures) along with reflecting sensitively that some children may have a different structure of support around them (for example: looked after children or young carers).

We aim to work with feeder primary schools to ensure learning is built on developmentally.

Due to the inclusive nature of the school, we are aware that there will be a need to adapt and tailor content and teaching to meet the specific needs of pupils at different developmental stages.

For more information about our RSE curriculum, see Appendices 1 and 2.

7. Roles and responsibilities

7.1 The Trust Board

The Trust Board will approve the RSE policy, and hold the principal to account for its implementation.

7.2 The Principal

The principal is responsible for ensuring that RSE is taught consistently across the school, and for managing requests to withdraw pupils from non-statutory components of RSE (see section 8).

7.3 Staff

Staff are responsible for:

- Delivering RSE in a sensitive way
- Modelling positive attitudes to RSE
- Monitoring progress
- Responding to the needs of individual pupils
- Responding appropriately to pupils whose parents wish them to be withdrawn from the non-statutory components of RSE

Staff do not have the right to opt out of teaching RSE. Staff who have concerns about teaching RSE are encouraged to discuss this with the principal. RSE is taught by all form tutors as part of weekly PSHE lessons

7.4 Pupils

Pupils are expected to engage fully in RSE and, when discussing issues related to RSE, treat others with respect and sensitivity.

8. Parents' right to withdraw

Parents have the right to withdraw their children from the non-statutory components of sex education within RSE up to and until 3 terms before the child turns 16. After this point, if the child wishes to receive sex education rather than being withdrawn, the school will arrange this.

Requests for withdrawal should be put in writing using the form found in Appendix 3 of this policy and addressed to the principal.

A copy of withdrawal requests will be placed in the pupil's educational record. The Progress Leader will discuss the request with parents on behalf of the Principal and take appropriate action. The signed withdrawal form will be recorded on SIMS and staff notified accordingly.

Alternative work will be given to pupils who are withdrawn from sex education.

9. Training

Staff are trained on the delivery of RSE as part of their induction and it is included in our continuing professional development calendar.

The principal will also invite visitors from outside the school, such as school nurses or sexual health professionals, to provide support and training to staff teaching RSE.

10. Monitoring arrangements

The delivery of RSE is monitored by the vice-principal (pastoral) and the RSE TLR holder through:

- Work scrutiny
- Learning walks
- Pupil voice

Pupils' development in RSE is monitored by class teachers as part of our internal assessment systems.

These monitoring styles will allow us to assess the overall effectiveness of the RSE curriculum.

This policy will be reviewed annually by vice-principal (pastoral) and RSE TLR holder. At every review, the policy will be approved by the Trust board.
